

THE BALTIMORE SUN

Price $5.50 Our 189th Year No. 130

BALTIMORESUN.COM

SUNDAY, MAY 10, 2026

6 The Baltimore Sun | Sunday, May 10, 2026

John Mazza, construction project manager at Clark Construction, left, Cara Maza, physical therapist at Shirley Ryan Ability Lab in Chicago, Obafemi Ayanbadejo, former Baltimore Ravens football player, Cindy Saval, Event Chair, Qadry Ismail, former Baltimore Ravens football player, and Lauren Soloduk, Human Resource Manager for Saval Foods.

Quandarius Seabron left, Operations Assistant, Paul Katz, Program and Operations Manager and Carson Geelhaar, Senior Operations Assistant, all with Weekend Backpacks.

Real Fan Dan Granofsky cheers with Ravens Cheerleaders Chase and Emily End Zone Eats Gala Weekend Backpacks' Tailgate honoring the Ravens Foundation and 30 years of the Baltimore Ravens. PHOTOS BY KAREN JACKSON/FREELANCE

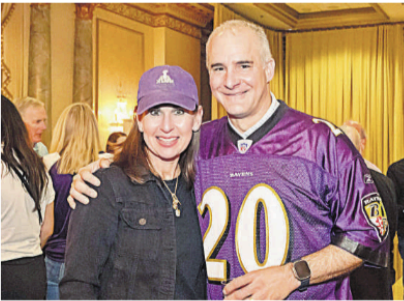

Weekend Backpacks' Tailgate End Zone Eats Gala

Cristina Lopez, Chief Operating Officer at Greater Baltimore Committee, David Sachs, Executive Director, The Leadership, Sharon Spira-Cushnir, Senior Director, Strategic Development St. Vincent DePaul and Andrew Cushnir, CEO, The Associated Jewish Federation.

Ravens cheerleader Chase, left, Ravens mascot Poe, Sandie Nagel, founder of Weekend Backpacks, and Ravens cheerleader Emily.

Stephani Renbaum, Public Relations Consultant, and Mark Renbaum, Real Estate Developer, Principal at MLR Partners.

Fred Hassell, Executive Director of Weekend Backpacks speaks to the guests during the End Zone Eats Gala.

Heather Darney, Executive Director of Ravens Foundation, left, Lisa Dixon, Secretary Ravens Foundation, Kelly Tallant, Director of Communications, Baltimore Ravens, and Drew Meyer, Community Relations Manager, Baltimore Ravens.

Carla Surdin, Co-Chair, and Maxine Lowy, Treasurer, Weekend Backpacks.

Eric Tabb, teacher, BCPS, and Rachael Tabb, Support Planner for Community Medicaid, attended